- Methodology –

To achieve these objectives, the training has a length of several days, in which we will be able to share experiences and make observations, debates, meetings and practical workshops related to nature education. The training is enriched by the natural, cultural and gastronomic values, since it is carried out in relevant cultural spaces and natural enclaves, while we will enjoy Galician gastronomy and Galician traditions. Since the training is international, the course will be conducted in several languages (mainly Spanish) with the possibility of consecutive translation into English.
